A BRIGHT FOOTBALL FIRST

Friday night lights. Monday Night Football. The Super Bowl. These prime-time staples of modern American football owe their existence to a bright spot in sports history: the first night football game, played on Sept. 28, 1892, in Pennsylvania.

Powered by a 4,300-pound generator, the field's electric lights were no match for the foggy evening, and the game was called after 20 minutes. But the town of Mansfield has continued to celebrate their contribution to the sport with reenactments of the game between Wyoming Seminary and Mansfield State Normal School (now called Mansfield University).

OLYMPIC GAME WINNERS

REMEMBERING THE MARSHAL

The TV Western, "Gunsmoke," starring James Arness as Marshal Matt Dillon, premiered on Sept. 10, 1955. Based in late-1800s Dodge City, Kan., the show also featured characters Doc Adams, Miss Kitty and Festus. The series ran for 20 seasons.
